

Where's The Beef

October 07, 2010 - 2:22 PM AST | Reply · Like · Dislike · Report Abuse

Roadshows, Gazzette postings, Consultations and the other sexy words that were written may impress some other lawyer that happens to like status reports and "What we did this year" stories but for us consumers we are stuck with HIGHER than the rest of the world and some third world country rates and increases for slower than advertised internet packages that we are forced to pay just to send email. Text messages that we are billed for that never arrive with no error to alert us that your text could not be delivered. Complaints on LIME got to some other island and is filed away and never addressed except just enough that keeps it out of the hands of the TRC. So in short Deregulation and so called open competition have created a free for all market in favor of the providers. It's cheaper to call England than to call any cell number from your fixed line. Phone bills have tripled since our new FREEDOM to choose has come about. So after all the fancy parties and consultancies are over I hope that we have not just given the providers new ways to bill the crap out of us. So TRC either show us the Beef or get out of the kitchen.